

---

THE STORY TELLER

---

Our journalist had the chance to interview miss Harper just for our dear reader to know more about this amazing and also creepy young girl. With this interview you will get into her skin, learn more about her routine and how she is dealing life with her illness. Be ready to be shocked and emotional...

Ella is a young sweet girl who's born with a unformal body, it's a malformation that is actually really visible, her knees are on the wrong side just like camels, that's why people in her town kept calling her "the camelgirl", which is not a really pleasant name for a young girl full of beliefs. Like every other girls of her age, Ella is dreaming of making her family proud by getting married and having children, but sadly at our time the littlest thing that make you different from what the society expects you to be you'll automatically rejected from everybody.

---

	<h1>THE STORY TELLER</h1>
--	---------------------------	--

---

Sadly even kids are mocking each othersp it's complicated for Elle to be around the other kids, that is why Ella is home-schooled, she's linving in a little farm outside of town with her family, but the school may is going just in front of the farm, so every single day Ella as to watch every other kids being happy and "normal". She is in fact reallyly mature for her age, she is conscious that she's different from the other person around her, that everyone think that she's a "freak", but the truth behind that it's that she's jsut a girl, dreaming og having a real life, friends, lovers, childrens. There are for fact people who are mean and despicable who are physically normal, and other who are just a bit diferent but with the biggestv heart in the whole wild world and they are yet the one we called monsters...

